SOMERSET, PA., TUESDAY, MARCH 23, 1847.

FOR GOVERNOR. GEN. JAMES IRVIN. OF CENTRE COUNTY.

For Canal Commissioner. JOSEPH W. PATTON, OF CUMBERLAND COUNTY.

THE ENSUING ELECTION. The ensuing election in Pennsylvania will be a highly important one, both in regard to its immediate results and its remole consequences.

The present State Executive, it is well known, though perhaps not generally admitted, is a weak, imbecile officer-a mere "camp follower" of the great leaders of his party, who is unable to either conceive or carry out any scheme of State policy, unaided by men of greater talent and experience than himself. The honor and interests of the Commonwealth and of the people therefore demand his defeat and the election in his stead of one more competent to discharge the high and responsible duties which devolve upon the chief Executive officer.

The present Board of Canal Commissioners is composed of two Democrats and one Whig, the latter of whom, though he be ever so desirous of introducing wholesome reforms into the management of the public works, is altogether powerless, and will continue to be so until one of the former shall have been supplanted by the election of a Whig.

These are, in few words and general terms, the principal reasons why the Democratic candidates for Governor and Canal Commissioner should be defeated and the Whig candidates elected, in so far as the affairs of the Commonwealth are likely to be affected by the decision .-But this election will have an important bearing also upon the Presidential contest in 1848, and viewed in this light, becomes even more important than when considered merely with reference to immediate results.

Last year the Whige of Pennsylvania achieved a great and decisive victory, which has exerted a salutary influence upon the National Legislature, causing a large portion of the Northern Democracy to cut loose from the President & his southern friends, and to take a manly stand for Northern interests; thus identifying themselves, so far as regards those interests, with the Whig party of the Nation, who have long been battling against southern encroachment upon Northern rights, and have condemned, from first to last, that system of Southern dictation and Northern servility which has been for so many years a curse to the nation.

It does not require the vision of a prophet to foresee that the power and influence of the South will be exerted at the els peas. ensuing election in this State, for the purpose of reversing the decision given last fall, which has been the source of so much perplexity to the President and of alarm to Southern Locofocoism. The re-election of Gov. Shunk and the success of his candidate for Canal Commissioner would be viewed and proclaimed as a condemnation by Pennsylvania of the course of her delegation in the last Congress on the Slavery question and as a triumph of a Southern President and Southern faction over the free citizens of the Keystone State, and would be followed by renewed exertions to either retain in the Executive chair the present incumbent or place in his stead another Southern man with Southern principles. On the other hand, the defeat of Shunk and his partizans and the election of the Whig candidates, would at once convince all parties that Pennsylvania was determined to remain true to her purpose, and that none other than a Northern man, untrammeled by the influence of Slavery, could receive her electoral vote for President of the United States.

Is must, we think, be obvious to all, that, in whatever light we view the question-whether in regard to State or to National affairs-the result of the ensu- freshing exercises, but the captain has ing election will be of high and lasting come back as wise as he went on the onimportance-important in regard to the ly important matter of his mission. Sanimmediate concerns of the Commonwealth-important in its bearings upon the coming Presidential contest-and important in the influences which it will exert upon all sections of the Union in regard to those perplexing questions of National policy which have been so long and so constantly a prolific source of contention between the slaveholding and nonslaveholding States of the Confederacy.

If the people of Pennsylvania will but ponder these things-if they will divest themselves of all prejudice and act solely with a view to the advancement of their whole nation-then there can hardly be now in money. His restoration was all two opinions as to what will be their decision next fall.

THE WHIG CANDIDATES.

If the tone of the Whig press may be taken as an index to the feelings that pervade the Whig party of the State, we now reaping the result. may congratulate our political friends upon the nominations made by the Convention on the 9th inst., for Governor and Canal Commissioner. We have seldom witnessed greater unanimity or greater enthusiasm than that which is manifested by our Whig exchanges in regard to the nominations. All speak of the candidates in the highest terms, and all appear to be confident of their success at the ensuing election. Nor is this all. The the powers that be, manifest unmistakeable signs of alarm, well knowing that the days of their power and rule will soon be over, and that the people of our good old Commonwealth will supply their pla- them, and always their consistent and ef- Great events were expected soon. ces with other and better men. We may expect to see the Whig candidates villified the merits of Mr. Irvin will be appreciaas usual; but it will avail Gov. Shunk and his office-holders nothing. The Whigs will march to battle in solid phalanx, and victory will again perch upon their banner.

APPOINTMENT OF PRESIDENT JUDGES.

J. Pringle Jones, has been appointed to succeed Judge Banks.

John M. Forster, whose nomination had been rejected by the Senate, was renominated by the Governor and again rejected by the Senate, 12 to 12.

J. M. Burrell was nominated to suc- quest. ceed Judge White, and rejected in the Senate, 16 to 11.

Samuel A. Gilmore was subsequently named by the Governor in place of Burrell, and also rejected, 14 to 12.

Wilson McCandless was then nominated in place of Gilmore and rejected, 13

The Chester and Westmoreland Judicial districts therefore remain vacant.

THE WAR.

The intelligence from the seat of war which we publish to-day indicates the most active preparations on the part of Gen. Scott for an attack upon Vera Cruz and the Castle. Ere this time a decisive battle has in all likelihood been fought, and the next arrival may bring us the gratifying intelligence that both the City and Castle are in possession of our troops.

POLK & THE THREE MILLIONS.

The Washington correspondent of the North American, of last Thursday, makes the following statement:

GEN. JAMES IRVIN.

The Philadelphia Chronicle, a neutral paper, in the course of a lengthy and handsome article in relation to the nominee of the Whig Convention says:

"This unassuming, but able manfrom the ranks of the people-practically experienced in the great interests of the State, and earnest to sustain them-of excellent judgment and practical good sense, is now a candidate for the Gubernatorial tools, dependants and understrappers of Chair of Pennsylvania. Can ii be doubted that the selection is a wise one? We speak apart from party considerations .-Who can better represent and sustain the true interests of the Commonwealth, than fective advocate? We are persuaded that ted by his fellow citizens throughout the Commonwealth-that his popularity will not be found to be divided by any geographical line. East of the mountains, and West of them, wherever a hardy yeomanry, alive to State honor and interests, can be found, there will Gen. Irvin find willing supporters."

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL! The President rules with a high hand. Few men have played the tyrant more boldly, and treated his friends with more supreme contempt. To please him, the River and Harbor Bill of last year was shorn of its exceptionable proportions .-It was publicly given out in both Houses of Congress, that, as drawn, it would receive the President's signature. This was believed. Few of its friends doubted a favorable result. The bill was accordingly passed, and POCKETED! Congress voted the President his Major Generals and his Three Million Bill without the Proviso; and as a reward to those Northern men who surrendered their better judgment to a fancied policy, their favorite measure, so much needed, received the official negative of His Excellency!-Millions for war, but not a cent for commerce! LATER FROM TAMPICO.

A telegraphic despatch from our Philadelphia correspondent, informs us that later advices have been received at New Orleans from Tampico.

Gen, Scott, who arrived at Tampico on the 18th of February, embarked from that place on the 21st, for the Island of Lo-

Brigadier Generals Quitman, Pillow, Twiggs, and Shields, were also embarking, with their forces, supposed to be destined also for Lobos, but that was not certain. It may be for some point nearer Vera Cruz, as a corps of observation. About two thousand troops had already left Tampico, and the most intense activity and the greatest excitement prevailed one who has been so long identified with among the American forces at Tampico.

The Brigade of choice veteran troops, under Gen. Worth, was hourly expected at Tampico from the Brazos.

Advices from the Mexican Army give distressing accounts of the deplorable condition of the enemies forces.

Santa Anna had issued a Proclamation in which he declared the most unexampled distress prevails in his Army. He declares his determination to march immediately upon the enemy; and advises his soldiers to take and kill what is necessary for their subsistance, wherever dinary and Minister Plenipotentiary near they can find it, as they were deserted and neglected by their own Government.
